FAREHAM SOUTH – Summer 2019

Planning mayhem as pollution fears put thousands of homes on hold

FEARS over dangerous levels of nitrates in the environment have halted building of thousands of homes across Fareham and South Hampshire

It's brought mayhem to the planning department already struggling to re-write the Draft Plan after Whitehall kept moving the goal posts.

And it's a slap in the face for the Government that had ordered Fareham to find greenfield space for thousands of extra homes.

The Council's planning boss labelled it 'plain nonsense'. Poet John Milton summed it up in Paradise Lost: "Confusion worse confounded."

Natural England, the Government's adviser on nature conservation, raised concerns that additional levels of new housing could lead to higher levels of nitrates due to increased amounts of wastewater.

Exhaust emissions from increased traffic passing close to The Solent or watercourses leading to it may also result in some nitrates increases.

Since April, Natural England required all house builders to quantify the nitrogen level from their development sites and to identify and mitigate any increase in the nitrates from that land.

In less than a year, yet more green fields have come under threat

For context it is worth noting local planning authorities around Poole Harbour have reported: Nitrogen entering Poole Harbour from the land comes from either a combination of widespread places known as diffuse sources, which are mainly losses from agriculture such as nitrogen fertilisers and livestock manure (85%), or from concentrated point sources such as sewage treatment works (15%).

after Whitehall demanded that Fareham finds space for up to 2,500 extra homes on top of the 2,300 houses the Council had already been forced to add to the new Draft Plan 2011-2036.

Executive Member for Planning and Development Councillor Keith Evans said: "For all current and new planning applications Fareham planning staff are requiring developers to undertake a nutrient assessment, using Natural England methodology.

"They must work with the Council to identify any valid mitigation – such as removing land from agricultural use which will offset any nitrates from new development."

Keith Evans added: "As a good example of this approach, the nutrient assessment of the Welborne development north of Fareham, which is being built on farming land, indicates nitrogen increase neutrality and will continue as planned."

"We will work with developers to find mitigation measures, but ultimately this issue must be dealt with at Government level. We are working with all South Hampshire councils through the Partnership for South Hampshire and other organisations to find a long-term solution.

"It is plainly nonsense to have one side of Government pushing for additional housing – with sanctions if not achieved – and another putting obstacles in place and not helping to find solutions."

Veteran Stanley 'overwhelmed' by Daedalus D-Day memories

NINETY nine-year-old Stanley Richardson had no idea what a memorable day lay ahead when he arrived at Daedalus Airfield for the D-Day 75th anniversary.

He was greeted as guest of honour and applauded by thousands of visitors as he was invited to join the Mayor for the unveiling of a plaque paying tribute to the bravery of the 175 pilots who flew 400 missions on June 6, 1944.

Stanley was based at HMS Daedalus as a petty officer in the Fleet Air Arm when it was the busiest UK airfield during the Normandy invasion.

Still stunned by events unfolding around him, he said: "I'm so overwhelmed to be here. I had no idea what was happening today. It's all a big surprise."

It had been a closely guarded family secret organised by his son, Stuart, who'd driven him from his Littlehampton home.

Stanley's job during the invasion was to prepare and check the planes before they went into battle across the Channel.

He added: "I'm very proud to be here today to represent my colleagues. A lot of them aren't here today, but I'm here for them."

Over 15,000 attended the two-day show during which there was a full programme of events.

Static aircraft proved a great attraction but bad weather shortened the flying display until late Saturday, when the Dakota arrived to the delight of the crowds.

It had improved next day and flypasts by a Spitfire, Dakota and gyrocopter went ahead, as did the Great War Display Team flying replica aircraft and the Royal Navy Raiders performing an exciting parachute display. The Red Arrows capped an unforgettable weekend.

NEWS ROUND

Making a splash for charity

Fourteen teams competed in the annual Fareham raft race in the creek.

It raises money mainly for local charities and is expected to exceed last year's £2,500 total.

Money this year will be split between the Rainbow Centre, which supports children and adults with cerebral palsy and adults with a stroke, MS and Parkinson's, and Headway Portsmouth & South East, which provides advice, information and practical support towards rehabilitation, recovery and independence.

Mixed-use litter bins
The Council is replacing dog bins with regular, larger capacity litter bins. All street litter, including dog waste, is now incinerated at an energy recovery facility. Dog walkers can now use these mixed-use litter bins which can be found across the Borough.

Housing help available

Help with housing need is available to households earning up to £80,000 pa, according to Government rules.

The Council is consulting on its rules for allocating social housing to various needs. Residents with views on categories and priorities should contact the Council's housing department or local councillors who will represent your views during the consultation.

The outcome will dictate who does and doesn't get access to the precious supply of council houses in the Borough.

They signed up for dementia training

GEOFF and Tina Fazackarley attended an insight to the different kinds of dementia and how to deal with the effects.

As a result, both signed up for dementia training to go out into the community and highlight the problem.

Geoff said: "It's becoming such a problem that one in 14 people now suffer with some form of dementia.

"It's not about the bad side of dementia, it's about playing on the positives and trying to support our community the best way we can."

Cams homeless video is a hit

PUPILS at Cams Hill School have produced a brilliant video on the town's homeless situation.

It has been blamed for a rise in crime in some areas and the students have tried to put the problem into perspective.

It gives excellent advice in interviews with two volunteers from Two Saints, one of the charities that works to try to get the homeless off the streets.

"I thoroughly recommend that you watch it," said Councillor Geoff Fazackarley, pictured with some of the Two Saints volunteers.

Multi-million revamp for a very special school

A SPECIAL school with a special place in Fareham community is to receive a long-overdue multi-million revamp.

Hampshire County Council voted to spend £4.39m to upgrade St Francis School in Oldbury Way and work could begin this year with completion by 2020.

The building is 42 years old and is now inadequate to accommodate almost 100 pupils aged 2-19 with severe – and in some cases – multiple learning difficulties.

County Councillor Peter Latham said the school was undersized and required considerable investment to improve the building and address shortcomings in the accommodation to meet the increasingly complex needs of its pupils.

He said: "The proposals would also provide improved accessibility, additional ancillary teaching spaces and hygiene facilities.

"Councillors were mindful of the need for extra classrooms with accompanying hygiene rooms and toilets, as well as some specialist learning spaces to the central circulation space, including a new ramp to improve access."

St Francis has built up an impressive reputation over the years and its last Ofsted inspection in 2018 produced a glowing report.

"This school continues to be good," it stated, adding that St Francis was a friendly, happy school where pupils enjoyed warm relationships with staff and each other.

It said parents and carers were positive about the school, saying that their children want to attend.

They recognised their children were skilfully supported to grow into young adults who have interests, can make choices and take an active role in their own care.

Pupils told inspectors they liked to be at school because 'learning is fun', stressing that they 'work hard all day long'.

INSPIRATIONAL

After a recent visit to the school, Fareham MP Suella Braverman commented:

"Good to pop into St Francis' Special School and catch up with inspirational Head, Steve Hollinghurst.

"Thank you to the team of dedicated staff and teachers for all you do to make this school – and Heathfield – excellent places of learning."

Sally Army's new war cry: Save old clothes

COME and join us and recycle your old clothes is the new 'war cry' in Fareham.

Textile recycling banks have changed to reflect the Council's new partnership with the Salvation Army.

The new banks can be used for all clothing, household textiles, shoes, bags, belts, handbags and accessories, but not quilts and pillows.

Shoes must be tied together in pairs, and everything should be tied in plastic bags before being put in the textile banks.

Councillor Geoff Fazackarley said: "Your donations help fund local services and the Salvation Army to help those in need and 99% of donations are reused or recycled."

Changes will also be made soon to the Borough's glass recycling banks to allow glass and jars of all colours to be collected together.

Busman's holiday for Geoff

GEOFF Fazackarley was on familiar ground.

Andy Kennedy from Y-Services asked him to help on Fareham Council's 999 Day.

Geoff, a former bus driver, was more than happy to get his hands on the wheel of Y-Services yellow bus.

"They do so much for the youth in Fareham," he said.

January closure so exciting Ferneham Hall facelift can start

FERNEHAM HALL will close in January 2020 after the annual panto season at the start of its multi-million revamp.

It attracted wide interest when the Council advertised for contractors.

Councillor Geoff Fazackarley said: "As this is such a large project, the procurement has been done in several phases to ensure we pick the right contractor at the right price.

"Not only do we want a fantastic facility but we need to ensure value for money. There's a great deal of interest in this project and we want to make sure it's amazing."

Tender deadline was the end of July and a contractor will be appointed on September 26 at a special Council meeting.

Architects with extensive experience in remodelling entertainment venues are working on plans for the project and keeping in touch with potential contractors to ensure the timetable for completion and the budget can be met.

It's anticipated the plans and budget will be agreed by early autumn with planning permission sought shortly after. The changes include:

- Main auditorium to have 800 seats rather than the 400-500 originally proposed
- A flexible studio space for a range of activities instead of a studio solely dedicated to dance
- Making the secondary performance space more flexible to encourage a range of uses
- The remodelled venue will also act as a community centre

Support new PM and focus on exiting EU

There are many reasons to be optimistic.

With a new Prime Minister, Boris Johnson, the country can unite and focus on leaving the EU by 31st October.

Our new PM has also prioritised investing in the Police so we have more bobbies on the beat – something we desperately need in Fareham to stop anti-social behaviour – and increasing funding for local schools.

Above all, we must never allow Jeremy Corbyn to enter Number 10. His brand of Socialism (modelled on Venezuela) would bankrupt the country and diminish the UK's place in the world.

In personal news, my son, George Jeffrey, was born on 10th July. My husband, Rael, and I are delighted.

Like many working mums, I am taking a period of maternity leave, but my office will be fully operational.

If you need assistance on any matter, get in touch and I will continue to work on your behalf: it's business as usual for Fareham residents.

BRAVERMAN MP for Fareham

Fareham Community Hospital (FCH) Taskforce, which I set up and chair, has published a report welcoming the GP-led Same Day Access Service.

Hospital, which sits on the Taskforce, said:

"The Friends are pleased that our local MP has shown such an interest in Fareham Community Hospital and hope some of the ideas in this report are taken on board by the Fareham & Gosport Clinical Commissioning Group, the general practices, Hants County Council, health trusts and others providing services to the hospital.

It calls for its further rollout, better public transport links, greater collaboration with the voluntary sector and more signposting to mental health services and support services for the elderly.

The report sets out a vision of how we could better use FCH. You can find it here: https://issuu.com/suellabravermanmp/docs/fch_future_vision

"The Friends and their volunteers will continue to promote and support the hospital and the local community it serves through various activities such as running dementia support groups, holding regular talks on health related matters which help us to help ourselves, and supporting new initiatives."

It was published just as Portsmouth Hospitals Trust confirmed to me that it will deliver a renal/dialysis training hub at FCH to support patients with kidney problems, saving them the travel to QA Hospital.

Pollution falls as county moves towards CO₂ neutrality

THE AIR quality monitoring station on Gosport Road has shown falling levels of pollution.

This is due to newer cars becoming greener and emitting far less carbon and nitrogen oxide than vehicles 10 years old.

Councillor Geoff Fazackarley said: "Fareham has encouraged bus use which has helped to take some cars off the road.

"Improvement works going on around town have meant less slow or stationary traffic, the worst cause of the pollution in the area."

Meanwhile, changing climate has been evident this summer.

Consequences of doing nothing will be a disaster and Government has set a goal of carbon neutrality by 2050.

County Councillor Peter Latham said HCC had already taken action in schools, street lighting, vehicles and council buildings.

In July it declared a climate emergency and committed to develop an action plan to provide effective measures to ensure Hampshire moves towards carbon neutrality, hopefully before 2050.

A few examples of what the County has done:

- Carbon consumption reduced by over 40%.
- Energy saving costs of £30 million
- Over 60 photovoltaic arrays installed in Council-owned buildings.
- Major LED lighting replacement programme expected to deliver annual £240,000 energy saving
- The Council aims to have 150 electric cars and 80 charging points to save £210,000 in annual fuel costs
- Schools built to the highest standard with sustainability features ensuring energy loss is minimal

'Hampshire Day' launch flies the flag for county's historic heritage

THE COUNTY'S rich history was celebrated with the launch of 'Hampshire Day' on July 15 – the feast of St Swithun, patron saint of Winchester Cathedral.

It was also the opportunity for the ceremonial raising of the new county flag.

'Hampshire Day' is the idea of the Lord Lieutenant, Nigel Atkinson, pictured with cathedral dean Catherine Ogle and HCC chairman Charles Choudhary, who wants communities across the county to celebrate everything that makes Hampshire great.... its heritage, world-famous historic sites, diversity of towns and villages and beautiful landscapes.

He hopes that in future people will share their pride by holding their own activities and celebrations.

Fareham Mayor Councillor Pamela Bryant, who attended the ceremony, hopes local groups will start planning events for future years as this gives a great opportunity for communities to get together.
